Reflection: How Have You Practiced Whole Systems Leadership?

From a Whole Systems Healing perspective, leadership is not a position, but a behavior that can show up anywhere within a community, an organization or other human system. Leadership is not tied to having roles with authority. It is just what happens when people step forward to make a difference on the issues they care about – whether they have positional power and expertise or not.

“The leaders we need are already here, emerging everywhere.”
~ Margaret Wheatley

Think of an example where you have stepped forward to make a difference about an issue you care about. Have you done this at work? In your community? In your family?

Tell your story (in less than 3 minutes or 1 page if you are writing it) about a time you were involved in something that changed the world even in a small way.
